ST. JOHN'S CHRISTIAN ACADEMY

In August, the station worked with members of the St. John's Christian Academy for the production of a tape and P.S.A. regarding the Mirage Fashion Show.

WTVE-TV 51 donated both its production services and air time to promote the event. Members of the Production Department donated approximately 35 hours of its time to both tape and edit the event.

V-51 aired a series of 90-second P.S.A.'s after the event had taken place to acquaint its viewers with the activities of the St. John's Christian Academy.

Also, TV-51 made a two-minute highlight reel available to those who attended the event, charging only for tape stock costs.

PHILADELPHIA PHILLIES/READING PHILLIES

WTVE-TV 51 continued to support the Philadelphia and Reading Phillies by airing 3-minute segments promoting the clubs to its viewership.

The Production Department attended the initial caravan, taping interviews with the players, managers, and coaches. These interviews were then edited together with game footage.

The 3-minute segments aired on WTVE-TV 51 at no charge for the purpose of promoting the players and the fun and exciting product which these two fine organizations provide.

PENNSYLVANIA AIR NATIONAL GUARD

Rich Ashburn spoke of career opportunities in the 111th Tactical Air Support Group Team for the Pennsylvania Air National Guard, "Your Hometown Air Force".

PENNSYLVANIA CRIME STOPPERS

TV-51 continued working for Pennsylvania Crime Stoppers, producing, scripting, editing, and airing :30's that alert the viewership of crimes in the area.

READING, PENNSYLVANIA 19604

COMPILED BY:

GEORGE MATTMILLER

JULY, 1991

As it did at the 1997 Concours d'Elegance, WTVE-TV 51 video taped the cars at the event. The tape is in the process of being edited. The goal, as for the previous Concours, is to provide a one hour highlight tape. Partial proceeds will then go to benefit the worthy efforts of the BURN PREVENTION FOUNDATION.

WTVE-TV 51 also produced a :30 P.S.A. from footage that was shot at the 1998 Concours d'Elegance, and aired it leading up to the May 18th event as a further donation to the BURN PREVENTION FOUNDATION.

PENNSYLVANIA CRIME STOPPERS

TV-51 continued working for PENNSYLVANIA CRIME STOPPERS, producing, scripting, editing, and airing :30's that alert the viewership to be on the lookout for criminals whose whereabouts are potentially in the area.

Kim,

As you know, POTS is a non-profit police labor organization dedicated to improving the economic and working conditions of our members.

As an officer of the POTS Executive Board, I was given the task of producing an informational video to be used to introduce and to set the tone of our presentation in an Act 111 binding arbitration case. I had no experience in video production but did have a lot of ideas when I met with you and other members of the WTVE staff. You took my ideas, developed them, expanded them, and created a tape which far exceeded even my most optimistic expectations.

Your technical assistance, editing skills, and professional advice were all greatly appreciated. The time and personal effort you applied to this project certainly enhanced its end result. I am most grateful however, for your patience. You dealt with my work schedule, my telephone calls, my questions, and my concerns with courtesy and enduring good humor.

I wish to thank you personally and the rest of the staff at WTVE for your invaluable help in producing what Fran Bascilli, the President of the Pa State Fraternal Order of Police, said was the best arbitration video he has ever seen.

Sincerely,

J. Stephen Dougherty

Spring cops produce fine documentary

By Kevin Cramsey
Eagle Times

If the Academy Awards had a category for "Best Short Documentary Made by a Police Department," the Spring Township department would have a good shot at a nomination for its debut effort.

Patrolman J. Stephen Dougherty, an admitted novice in the field of video-making, served as writer and producer for the 10-minute video, managing to put it out at a cost of four figures.

Two other Spring officers, Dennis Riegel and Gary Thompson, were credited for camera work, and a Wyomissing police officer, Bob Johnson, piloted the plane, allowing for aerial shots.

The video was made specifically to be used as evidence in an arbitration hearing on a new police contract. The video was shown to the arbitrator during an April hearing. A ruling in the case is expected in the next month.

The object of the video is to show the tremendous growth and change which has occurred in the township in recent years and, ultimately, to show how these things expand the role of the police department.

"It was much more involved than I thought it would be," said Dougherty, who worked on the project for a solid three months. "I had hoped we could edit it ourselves and put it together; but, if we had done that, it would have looked amateurish."

Dougherty turned to professionals at WTVE-TV, Channel 51 to put the finishing touches on the video.

The veteran patrolman said he thought his writing skills would be up to the task, but the job of narrator wasn't something he was too keen on.

Fortunately, the police force had an ace in the hole.

member of the police department.

"If you have that kind of contact, you have to use it," Dougherty said. "I talked to him early on and lined him up."

Another contact utilized was Donald W. Schlegel, former police chief. Dougherty said Schlegel provided him with rare photographs of the township in earlier days. The stills were used to contrast the past with the present.

Although the police officers had a specific agenda in mind for the video, it is far from being a one-sided piece of propaganda. Police cars are shown cruising the township, but the dialogue steers clear of making pleas for more money or wages for police and does not criticize township officials.

"We didn't want to go in there and bludgeon the arbitrator with one-sided information," Dougherty explained. "If we did that, he wouldn't attach the kind of credibility to it that I hoped he would. I think we gave him a fair picture of the township — the kinds of problems we have, the future, and the fact the municipality is financially solvent."

Information may have had priority over artistry; however, Dougherty found spots for creative videomaking.

As a nice touch at the end, the
